Depth typology is another way to describe C.G. Jung's typological system and its modern variants. As the name suggests, depth typology addresses personality types in depth. It is worth pointing out that typology is a depth psychological modality rather than a clinical or behavioral model. Although there is a definite clinical and behavioral side to psychological types, they first and ...

Depth Typology C. G. Jung, Isabel Myers, John Beebe, and The Guide Map to Becoming Who We Are describes the expanded framework and whole-psyche dynamics of Jungian analyst John Beebe's state of the art type model. Not only does this book explain in detail what the model is and how it works, it describes the context as well as its theoretical foundations and how it fits with modern scientific ...

history, produced from an in-depth interview. In order to narrow the range of data types for this book's focus, we look to Ryan and Bernard's (2000) typology of qualitative research that divides qualitative data into its three main forms—text, images, and sounds (Figure 1.1). Analysis of text is further subdivided into two primary components – text as an object of analysis (e.g ...
